

What is the Constitution Revision Commission (CRC)?

- Once every twenty years, Florida's Constitution provides for the creation of a thirty-seven member revision commission for the purpose of reviewing Florida's Constitution and proposing changes for voter consideration. The CRC is composed of the Attorney General, fifteen appointees from the Governor, nine appointees from the President of the Florida Senate, nine appointees from the Speaker of the Florida House of Representatives and three appointees from the Chief Justice of the Florida Supreme Court. The CRC meets for approximately one year, traveling the State of Florida, identifying issues, performing research and possibly recommending changes to the Constitution.

Who are the members of the CRC?

- Information about each of the Commissioners can be found at flcrc.gov or in the handout available at the welcome desk.

How does the CRC put proposed Constitutional amendments on the ballot?

- Any amendments proposed by the CRC would be placed on the 2018 General Election ballot. Amendments placed on the ballot by the CRC would have to secure 60 percent approval by voters to be added to the Constitution.

If I speak at today's meeting, do I still need to submit my proposal/comments in writing?

- Your comments will be included in the online transcript of this meeting, but you'll need to submit the specific language of your proposed Constitutional amendment to the CRC.

How do I submit comment or a proposed Constitutional amendment to the CRC?

- Floridians can submit proposals and comment in person at a public hearing, through our website at flcrc.gov, by email to admin@flcrc.gov or by mail to the address below.

How do I contact the CRC?

- You may contact the CRC by emailing us at admin@flcrc.gov or calling us at 850.717.9550. You may also share a comment or an idea through our website at flcrc.gov.
